

Quote Unquote Team Challenge

Saturday 17th April saw the village hall packed to near capacity for our 'Quote Unquote team challenge', FOLSC's first outing of 2014 season. We were delighted to welcome many contestants from Long Sutton but it seems our reputation for putting on 'a bit of a do' is spreading with almost as many teams from outlying villages. Question Masters Aitken and Pringle presented a range of 9 themed rounds supported with entertaining audio visual clues that kept the participants on their toes!

In the theatre and film round the audience took the opportunity to join in with Miss Doris Day's classic Que Sera, Sera and were also word perfect with the Dad's Army theme! Noise levels were high with much friendly banter from the floor, encouraged by our bar staff who managed to shift record levels of ale and wine and supported by the slick catering team offering a wide variety of finger food served in record time during the interval.

The level of knowledge was astounding with 'The Knole Knowalls+Friends' in third place with 100, 'The Good Neighbours' were runners up with 111.5 points but the winners were 'The Outsiders' with a staggering 117 points out of a possible 143 available. Congratulations to them and all who supported us at this event and judging from subsequent feedback, we achieved our joint aims of making money as well as having a jolly good time. We delivered a profit to the fighting fund of £921 and were happy to have Mark Talbot, in one of his last official functions in Long Sutton, to draw the raffle.
